SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The U.S. State Department Central Files are the definitive source of American diplomatic reporting on political, military, social, and economic developments throughout the world in the twentieth century. This edition consists of the Central Files for the Soviet Union for the period between February 1963 and 1966. The files are arranged according to the State Department Records Classification System, February 1963–1973. The subjects from the classification system included in this edition are AID (Foreign Economic Assistance), CSM (Communism), DEF (Defense Affairs), INT (Intelligence), and POL (Political Affairs and Relations). The files consist of cables and letters sent and received by U.S. diplomats and embassy personnel; reports on meetings between U.S. and foreign government officials and leaders; newspaper clippings and translations from journals and newspapers; transcripts of speeches; and reports and observations on political, military, and social affairs.

This edition of Central Files for the Soviet Union begins with a brief series of items from the AID category. These files consist of correspondence and other items pertaining to economic assistance from the Soviet Union to other countries. Among the countries discussed are Yugoslavia, Turkey, United Arab Republic, Iraq, Nigeria, Indonesia, Ghana, Cambodia, and Bulgaria. There are also several pages covering U.S. economic assistance to the Soviet Union.

The majority of the CSM file (Reel 1, frames 0300–0848) pertains to the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (CPSU) and international Communist party conferences in Moscow. Other materials pertaining to Communism and the CPSU can be found under Political Parties (POL 12) and in the Government category (POL 15).

In the DEF category, the two major topics are arms control and disarmament, including the nuclear test ban treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union, and military assistance from the Soviet Union to other nations. Other subjects covered in this category are flight clearances and overflights, military bases and installation, and military policy and plans. The DEF category begins on frame 0849 of Reel 1 and continues to the end of Reel 4.

Materials in the INT category cover the Sino-Soviet conflict, jamming of U.S. radio broadcasts to the Soviet Union, changes in the KGB, and other information and observations gathered by U.S. embassy officials while traveling in the Soviet Union.

POL is the largest category in this edition. POL documents begin on frame 0258 of Reel 5 and continue through to the end of the collection on Reel 33. Relations between the Soviet Union and the United States are covered in substantial detail in this section. Among the major topics of Soviet-U.S. relations discussed are Soviet reaction to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the war in Vietnam, the status of Berlin and Germany, the Cuban missile crisis, and the nuclear test ban treaty. Another major topic covered in this category is the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev from his posts as secretary of the Central Committee of the CPSU and Soviet premier and his replacement by Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Joint Weeka Reports (POL 2-1) are weekly reports written by U.S. diplomatic personnel that provide brief summaries of both internal developments and foreign developments. These summaries are based on observations of U.S. officials and translations from newspapers and periodicals. Internal affairs mentioned in the Weeka Reports in this edition are assessments of Josef Stalin, Khrushchev's ouster, space exploration, agriculture, and the CPSU. Foreign developments in Weeka Reports pertain to relations between the Soviet Union and other countries, or Soviet reaction to important international events, including almost weekly updates on Sino-Soviet relations, and events in Vietnam, Southeast Asia, and Germany.

The POL category also includes many files on Soviet diplomatic and consular representation throughout the world; brief biographies of Soviet diplomatic personnel and CPSU leaders; and reports on foreign visits and meetings by Nikita S. Khrushchev, Aleksei Kosygin, Andrei Gromyko, Anastas Mikoyan, Leonid Brezhnev, and other Soviet leaders. Other topics covered in the POL category include incidents between U.S. and Soviet fishing boats in Alaskan waters, Jews in the USSR, travel controls, the location of the Soviet embassy in Washington, D.C., and elections in Soviet republics. These and other subjects are listed in alphabetical order in the subject index of this guide.

Microfilmed from the holdings of the National Archives, College Park, MD, Record Group 59: Records of the Department of State, Subject-Numeric Files for the period February 1963–1966. The Subject-Numeric File categories included in this publication are Economic, and Political and Defense. All available original documents have been microfilmed. The documents reproduced in this publication are among the records of the U.S. Department of State in the custody of the National Archives of the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTE

UPA has microfilmed all available original documents as they are arranged at the National Archives. Only exact duplicate copies of documents have been excluded from this micropublication. In a small number of instances, some documents have been misfiled or misclassified by the Department of State. UPA has included, in brackets, corrected subject citations. UPA has microfilmed these documents as they are arranged in the original collection. Only the Economic, and Political and Defense Subject-Numeric file categories are included in this publication.

STATE DEPARTMENT RECORDS CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM, FEBRUARY 1963–JULY 1973

Essential to the effective administration of the State Department and its overseas posts is the management of records. In keeping with the State Department's program to improve and modernize its administrative processes, the department developed a new comprehensive records classification system in February–March 1963 (used until July 1973).

This new uniform file system enabled users to file and find material rapidly—the usefulness of recorded information being largely dependent upon the logical arrangement of records. The new system applied to both official and working files.

The new system was based on several years of research and embodied many substantial contributions made by departmental and overseas personnel. An effort had been made to provide sufficient flexibility and subject matter coverage to meet the needs of offices and posts both large and small.

A. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The new Records Classification System embodied a uniform official file system to be used throughout the department and its overseas posts. It was intended for use by operating offices as well as by departmental and post central files operations. The new system did not apply to certain types of case files, however, such as official personnel files, security investigative files, voucher files, and so forth. Offices continued to maintain chronological files where necessary or desirable.

B. ARRANGEMENT AND CONTENT

1. Subject File Outlines

The attached file outlines [provided by UPA beginning on page xv] comprise the new file system. They were arranged within seven broad subject matter areas (known earlier as classes), with each including specific subdivisions of related secondary and tertiary code symbols.

2. Special Instructions

a. International Organizations and Conferences

This system provided a special method for handling records accumulated in large quantities by offices that were primarily interested in a specific organization or conference rather than in the subject matter with which it dealt. Use of this special feature of the new file system afforded such offices a method for organizing this type of record material to meet their own reference needs within the framework of the new system. It proved of particular use to the Bureau of International Organization Affairs and to United States Missions to international organizations, such as the U.S. United Nations Delegation.

b. Commercial Officers

This instruction to the system was prepared in cooperation with the Department of Commerce for the special guidance of commercial officers in their use of the new file system. It provided for pre-coding of commercial-economic reports with the appropriate subject matter code symbols.

c. Peace Corps Representatives

This instruction to the system was prepared in cooperation with the Peace Corps for the guidance of its field representatives in records organization and maintenance. It prescribed the use of the appropriate administrative subject outlines for Peace Corps records administration.

d. U.S. Information Service (USIS)

Special subject designations were developed in cooperation with the U.S. Information Agency for use by those posts at which USIS files were maintained by the post's Central Records Unit. These designations were included in the Culture & Information subject outline.

C. TYPE OF SYSTEM

1. Subject-Numeric System

The new uniform file system was of the subject-numeric type. It was selected because of the flexibility that it provided for expansion purposes and the simplicity of file designations for marking purposes. A mnemonic symbol was selected for each of the fifty-five primary subjects for which file outlines had been developed. These symbols ranged from one to four letters in length and had been chosen because of their meaning or obvious relationship to the subject matter for which they stood. In some cases the symbol was identical with an office symbol (e.g., PPT for Passports & Citizenship, AV for Aviation (Civil)). In other cases the key letters in the primary subject constituted the symbol (e.g., CON for Consular Affairs (General), REF for Refugees & Migration, AGR for Agriculture (General)).

While many small offices used the primary subjects alone, larger offices required further breakdowns of the primary subjects for more detailed subject matter coverage. Simple serial numbers were assigned to subject breakdowns at both the secondary and tertiary level. For example, a paper relating to the subject of agricultural production in general was classified AGR 12; a paper dealing with technological advances in agricultural production was AGR 12-1. The most detailed subdivision contained no more than four digits, making for a relatively simple file designation. Sample Reel Index entries with Subject Numeric Codes are on page xxvii.

2. Use of Identical Numbers for Similar Subject

As an additional aid, the same number was assigned to similar secondary and tertiary subjects appearing in different subject file outlines. In most outlines the first five secondary subjects were standard (e.g., General Policy, Plans, and Programs; General Reports and Statistics; Organizations and Conferences; Agreements and Treaties; and Laws and Regulations). This same principle was applied to other similar or related subjects (e.g., Communist Bloc activities in aid, trade, and educational and cultural fields were assigned a “6” number—AID 6, FT 6, EDU 6, respectively; production and consumption was assigned a “12” number in the various industry outlines—AGR 12, INCO 12, PET 12).

3. Expansion of Existing Subjects

While no attempt was made to provide breakdowns for subject matter beyond the tertiary level, there were cases in which an office might want or need to subdivide a secondary or tertiary subject alphabetically by name, geographic location, or other appropriate breakdown. For example, papers relating to visits by foreign dignitaries were subdivided by name (e.g., POL 7 Visits—Adenauer); papers relating to a trade fair by location (e.g., TP 8 Fairs—Moscow); or papers relating to a thermal power project by type (e.g., FSE 12 Electric Power—Thermal).

D. SPECIAL FEATURES

1. Flexibility

Flexibility was an important feature of the uniform file system. The new system embodied an unusual amount of flexibility by providing users with several methods of arranging material according to their specific requirements. Three important areas of choice are indicated below:

a. Subject vs. Geographic Arrangement

Within each subject file outline, where appropriate, alternative ways of arranging material by subject or area/country were possible. An office interested only in a specific subject without regard to country selected the method of arrangement described above. An office that was primarily interested in specific subject matter but with a secondary concern for a geographic area or country selected the method described in Instruction “C” (Type of System). A geographic bureau or other office primarily concerned with a specific country used the method of arranging first by country and thereunder by subject described in Instruction “B” (Arrangement and Content).

b. Treatment of International Organizations and Conferences

Most offices accumulated a varying amount of material on international organizations and conferences in which the U.S. government was represented or participated. The interests of each office and its responsibility for international organization and conference activities determined the amount of record material that it accumulated and the method by which it arranged material to meet user needs.

An office that had a limited interest in such organizations and conferences and accumulated a relatively small quantity of papers probably found the “3” (Organizations and Conferences) classification within the appropriate subject outline adequate. An office that had a major interest in and responsibility for an organization such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), or the World Health Organization (WHO), however, adopted the method of arrangement described in Instruction “D” (Special Features). Under this arrangement a special subject file by title of organization was set up under the appropriate subject outline, using any of the secondary or tertiary breakdowns as necessary.

The Bureau of International Organization Affairs, special missions to international organizations, and other offices that accumulated a large volume of material on a specific organization or conference used the special instruction method of arrangement. This instruction contained a standard list of administrative subjects common to international organizations and conferences. It also provided a unique method of arranging substantive program material relating to the specific organization or conference by selecting appropriate subjects, permitting an organizational approach within the framework of a uniform subject system.

c. Treatment of Industries and Commodities

Because of the importance of the commercial-economic reporting program, special attention was given to the treatment of industries and commodities under the new file system. Specific subject outlines were developed for the most significant industries, such as Agriculture (General), Fuels & Energy, Petroleum, Telecommunications, and Transportation. With the exception of Agriculture (General), these industry outlines covered the related commodities and products as well.

To take care of the large number of other industries, commodities, products, and specific agricultural crops, an alphabetical guide was developed as an adjunct to the Industries & Commodities (General) outline. This list, referred to as INCO (specific), provided offices with a simple method of filing materials on specific commodities, regardless of whether they were in their natural or manufactured state.

Instructions preceding the alphabetical listing offered users a choice of methods of arrangement within the list. For example, one office may have preferred to group all minerals and metals together while another office may have found it preferable to file by the specific mineral or metal.

2. Detailed Instructions (Miscellaneous)

In addition to the instructions above, alternative methods of arrangement, detailed statements, or explanations of the coverage of specific secondary and tertiary breakdowns of the primary subject were provided on an ad hoc basis. Specific cross-references to related subject matter within the same or

SAMPLE REEL INDEX ENTRIES

Entries in this index refer to specific file folders and internal subdivisions within Confidential U.S. State Department Central Files, The Soviet Union, February 1963–1966. The file folders (in italics) are arranged by the Subject File Outlines noted in the “State Department Records Classification System, February 1963–July 1973,” on page xv. In order to improve access to large groupings of material, UPA has included selected “major topics” (enclosed in brackets) following the subject description. In addition, UPA has subdivided these groupings chronologically, mostly by year, but sometimes monthly.

The four-digit number on the far left represents the frame number at which the file folder begins. The first indented frame number denotes where a specific subject numeric category begins. The final indented frame number represents the point at which a chronological subdivision begins.

These samples provide a detailed description of the arrangement of the information in this guide.

REEL INDEX

Entries in this index refer to specific documents within Confidential U.S. State Department Central Files, The Soviet Union, February 1963–1966, Part 1: Political, Governmental, and National Defense Affairs. These documents are arranged by the Subject File Outlines noted in the “State Department Records Classification System, February 1963–July 1973,” on page xv. See the Sample Subject File and Reel Index entries highlighted on page xxvii for a description of the arrangement of the information in this guide. For some subjects, UPA has included additional topics (enclosed in brackets) following the subject description. In addition, for those subjects numbering more than one hundred pages, UPA has subdivided these groupings chronologically by month and year.

UPA has filmed these documents as they are filed at the National Archives. In some cases, there are documents that appear to have been misclassified by the Department of State. UPA has retained the original subject-numeric symbol and, within brackets, enclosed a different subject-numeric symbol and its accompanying subject citation. UPA has microfilmed the documents as they are arranged in the original collection, even when it is apparent that a document has been misfiled.

Many reel index entries include country abbreviations. A Country Abbreviations list can be found on page xvii of this guide.

The four-digit number on the far left represents the frame number at which a particular subject-numeric classification begins.
